{insert terror}

born after midnight & before morning before we name it witching hour born on the night stars turned inside out leaving light spattered sky raven born above ocean born tumbling between heavens & earths born when jupiter first shaded half the moon born of wine & meat & war born between slaughter & laughter between torment & tease Argus came feet first eyes on his soles eyes closed on his toenails eye stamped in the small of his back eye lodged at the base of his neck his mouth a red silent yowl of eyes